

Volin to speak at MMH

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

In their commitment to providing community based health education, Melissa Memorial Hospital is offering an in-service with speaker Dr. Stephen Volin, OB/GYN on Wednesday, Sept. 16 from 12-1 p.m. in the Group Room at the hospital. The topic will be “Female Urinary Incontinence: Causes & Treatments.”

Volin has a specialty clinic at MMH once a month and brings a desire to provide exceptional healthcare to women of all ages and stages of life. With years of postgraduate training and experience in surgical procedures including pelvic support, bladder repair and outpatient hysterectomy, his patients benefit not only from his skills and the latest technology, but also in minimal recovery time and reduced risk for infection.

He has pioneered the adoption of in-office permanent sterilization and endometrial ablation for women. New technology has not replaced Volin’s passion for delivering babies and caring for women from their first exam through menopause and beyond.

Volin received his medical training at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas, Texas and performed his residency at George Washington University Medical Center in Washington, D.C.
