

Mark Bradley Morrow to speak at A Caring Pregnancy fund raiser

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

A Caring Pregnancy Resource Center's annual fund raising banquet in Holyoke Saturday, Jan. 22 will feature Mark Bradley Morrow.

As a tri-state champion comedy performer, Morrow is no stranger to entertainment. Through the years he has entertained professionally for various groups including Gary Puckett—The Union Gap, Davy Jones—the Monkeys and Victoria Jackson—Saturday Night Live.

He spent a decade entertaining his morning drive listeners on a top Christian radio station that was nominated for a Dove Award, and he was an extra in the first two Left Behind movies.

But success could not bring peace. For 17 years, Morrow was haunted by shame and silence, until he found peace in his Father's hand.

His inspiring story and challenging message can help heal hearts and change lives. His secret is out.

Morrow's life experiences have compelled him to reach out to others. As an active pro-life advocate, Morrow speaks out about important topics that others would prefer to silence.

He is also an active entertainer, certified counselor, budding author and loving father.

Join A Caring Pregnancy Resource Center for a delicious meal and a memorable evening as Morrow uses his God-given gift of humor to challenge and heal hearts. Attendees will be touched by his inspiring true story.

The center will host three banquets again this year: Jan. 20 at the Morgan County Event Center, Jan. 21 at the Yuma Community Center and, Jan. 22 at the Phillips County Event Center.
