

Snowballs, sleds, angels fill Sunday afternoon with fun

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Snow angels, snowball fights, sledding ramps, snowmen and more added wintertime fun Sunday afternoon, Dec. 16.

Snow started falling late Saturday night, and Holyoke residents awoke to about four inches Sunday morning. While warmer temps saw much of the moisture-filled white stuff melt away Sunday, it was still enough to provide some fun times.

Golf Course Hill saw quite a bit of activity for sledders of all ages. Neighborhoods and families took advantage of the day off school for some age-old fun including caroling, snowball fights, snow angel designing and snowman building.

Brendan Mayden and Gunnar Kroeger ram into their super slide ramp at Holyoke Golf Course. The ramp sent many sledders flying for some winter snow fun Sunday.

Snowballs, sleds, angels fill Sunday afternoon with fun

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Luke Sprague nails brother Alec in a friendly family snowball fight Sunday afternoon.

Maxim Brinkman keeps an eye on the snowball throwers as he packs his own weapon in Natrey Bergey flies off the snow ramp he helped build at Golf Course Hill Sunday.

Holyoke Enterprise December 20, 2014 in the snow! me fun in Holyoke Sunday.