Ashley Sullivan recently joined the staff at The Holyoke Enterprise as receptionist.

Her duties are vast at the newspaper office, as she handles details of classified advertising, news formatting and page design, as well as customer service, accounts receivable and much more.

Sullivan grew up in Holyoke, graduating from HHS in 2005. This past May she earned her B.S. degree in audiology and speech language sciences from the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley.

She is the daughter of Steve and Cathy Sullivan of Holyoke.

Publisher Brenda Brandt is pleased with the speed in which Sullivan is adapting to her position at the Enterprise. Brandt noted Sullivan is a great addition to the newspaper team which also includes Darci Tomky and Chris Lee. In addition, Amy Einspahr has provided valuable training instruction for Sullivan.
