

Cast and blast clinic teaches safety Oct. 30

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Phillips County and Sedgwick County Pheasants Forever, Whiskey Springs Ranch, Jerry Haynes and Colorado Division of Wildlife are sponsoring a free Cast and Blast clinic Saturday, Oct. 30 at the Whiskey Springs Ranch, north of Jumbo Reservoir.

Kids will learn about firearms, safety in the field, marksmanship, ethics and hunting with dogs at the clinic.

Each attendee will need to bring their hunter safety card, their own shotgun, if they have one, and wear hunting clothes that are appropriate for the weather. Lunch will be provided.

There will be four events: blue rock shooting, safety trail, .22 caliber rifle marksmanship and a guided bird hunt. While waiting in between events, everyone can fish in the stocked ponds.

Call Jerry Haynes at 970-886-2676 or Jack Wieland at 854-3512 for more information and to register.
