

Centennial has new home

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

□□ In other CMHC news, Rhonda Osborne, director of the Phillips and Sedgwick County offices, recently left the Center. An interim director has taken over the position until July 1, when a more permanent decision will be made involving a replacement. —Enterprise photo
