

Van Trump to speak at ag appreciation day

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

---

Kevin Van Trump of The Van Trump Report will be speaking in Holyoke Tuesday, June 11 at the Phillips County Event Center as part of Farm Direction's Ag Appreciation Day, which will be from 8 a.m.-1 p.m., including a barbecue lunch by R&B Catering.

Van Trump is a leading expert in agricultural marketing and analysis. He also produces an award-winning and world-recognized daily industry ag wire called "The Van Trump Report."

With over 20 years of experience trading professionally at the CME, CBOT and KCBOT, Van Trump is able to "connect the dots" and simplify the complex moving parts associated with today's markets in a thought-provoking yet easy-to-read format.

With thousands of daily readers in over 40 countries, Van Trump has become a sought-after source for market direction, timing and macro views associated with the agricultural world.

He is a top-featured guest on many farm radio programs and business news channels here in the United States. He also speaks internationally to hedge fund managers and industry leading agricultural executives about current market conditions and "black swan" forecasting.

The markets have dramatically changed, and Van Trump is trying to redefine how those in the agricultural world can better manage their risk and better understand the adversity that lies ahead.

Holyoke Enterprise June 6, 2013