

Pre-licensing training available for family child care providers

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

For anyone who likes being around children or just wants to be around his or her own children or grandchildren more, becoming a licensed family child care provider is a great way to make a living.

Child care is often an exciting, fun-filled career that allows the provider the convenience and flexibility of working in their own home while doing something they love.

Licensed family child care providers find they have many resources available to help them with their home business. They can become a member of a food program which will reimburse them for the cost of the food they serve children.
