The afternoon racing is packed and filled with six divisions. On tap will be the BST dirt car late models, BST/IMCA mod stocks and sport mod tours, hobbies and dwarfs.

For a special fan appreciation driver meet and greet, the pits will be open to the public from 1-2 p.m. This is available to all who purchase a grandstand admission for the day.

Spectators are invited to see their favorite driver up close and personal, to take pictures and obtain autographs. They can watch the drivers get ready for the afternoon's entertainment.

For the meet and greet session, fans should go to the gate between the pits and the grandstands to enter.

Following the season opener this Sunday, the next PCR races will be Saturday, May 11, starting at 7 p.m.

PCR will be running every other Saturday night, allowing for more Denver cars to compete.
