

CHSAA site launches new era in high school sports information

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

There's a new authoritative voice and central hub for all things Colorado high school athletics and activities as the Colorado High School Activities Association has launched a new website designed to provide broader promotion of high school activities, CHSAA Commissioner Paul Angelico announced.

The website— CHSAANow.com —will host feature stories, game stories, scores, statistics, rankings and video clips. It will also have a running scores feature of regular season and playoff games, in conjunction with a CHSAA corporate partner MaxPr eps.com

Read the full story! Call the Enterprise about an e-subscription at 970-854-2811.

Holyoke Enterprise August 15, 2013