

HHS hits the gridiron

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Holyoke High School football players laced up their cleats and threw in their mouth pieces as practices began Monday, Aug. 12, officially marking the beginning to the 2013 football season. The boys in green and gold will have their work cut out for them with less than three weeks separating the start of practice and the opening kickoff of the first game.

Marques Harvey, pictured with the ball, works on his balance down the sideline as he takes a hit from teammate Dylan Kotch while coach John Zilla watches over during a running back drill Tuesday, Aug. 13.
