

'Music Moves Me' delights performers and audience

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Music Moves Me was the theme of Holyoke's first and third grade program held Thursday, April 16 in the HHS auditorium.

Directed by music teacher Marcia Dalton, the program was delightfully effective as the enthusiastic performance of the singers, dancers and speakers certainly led to rhythmic movement in the audience.

Performers were clearly enjoying themselves and confidently and gracefully moved from one scene to another. First grade and third grade students remained on stage for the whole show, moving to center stage or standing when it was their turn to entertain.

The program was capped with an audience participation Chicken Dance Medley which took parents and other audience members to the stage to join the fun.

Kicking off the program was the song Music Moves Me by first and third graders. Cassidy Hale was the main narrator, with other narration parts by Natray Peregoy, Bailey Hamaker, Arturo Dominguez and Jair Jimenez.

Six Little Ducks was acted and sung by first graders. Narrators were Remington Hielscher, Tristen Roll, Hunter Bergstrom, Caleb Deaver, Tayler Hale, Sabrina Zink, Emily Jelden

, Josie Herman, Victoria Race, Slaten Burris, Blake Mosenteen and Mason King.

Ducks were Wyatt Martin, Remington Hielscher, Liely Ochoa, Jackie Valenzuela, Slaten Burris, Matthew Oberle, Anthony Rojo, Nain Vasquez, Fabian Gonzalez and Miguel Soto; narrators, Lane Stapleton and Marcus Mitteis; Drew, Drew Stewart; and Mr. Baumgartner, Tobin Moore.
