

Mice and men (Best of)

Barbara Blabbers: I'm proud to be here today with an exclusive interview with the world's oldest mouse, Mickey. Thanks for taking time out of your rat race of a schedule to join us Mickey. What's new and exciting in your life?

Mickey: I'm into research now, Barbara. I felt it was time to give back, if you know what I mean. As you know, my fellow mice have a long history behind them of medical research.

Barbara: What kind of research Mickey?

Mickey: My grandfather Nicotine "Nickey" Mouse did nicotine research before he died of cancer. He was up to twelve cartons of cigarettes a day before he died.

Want the full article? Subscribe to our e-Edition. Call 970-854-2811.

Holyoke Enterprise September 26, 2013