

Work begins in the corn fields

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Marcus Kammer is busy planting corn east of Holyoke Monday afternoon, May 6. Tuesday, April 30-Wednesday, May 1, precipitation in the form of snow and rain forced several farmers in the area to wait until conditions improved before the work could begin. Over the two-day storm, Holyoke saw .64 inches of precipitation.□□

—Enterprise photo

Holyoke Enterprise May 9, 2013